1.0 INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 The Trust recognises that effective flexible working practices to promote work/life balance can benefit both the organisation and its employees. It acknowledges that individuals at all stages of their working lives work best when they are able to achieve an appropriate balance between work and all other aspects of their lives.
- 1.2 This policy outlines the use of flexible working arrangements and supports the commitment of the Trust to create opportunities for all staff to develop their individual talents and have a rewarding working life that can be balanced against their personal commitments and responsibilities.
- 1.3 The NHS People Plan 2020 (We are the NHS: People Plan for 2020/2021 – action for all) rightly puts our people at the front and centre of the NHS, including those working in primary and community care. While it is expected that all NHS organisations embrace and work towards implementation of the definition and principles, this document is not statutory guidance and is not intended to create new or additional legal obligations on organisations.
- 1.4 This policy complies with the legislative requirements of the Working Time Regulations, Employment Rights Act 1996 as amended in 2002, 2009 and 2014, the Flexible Working Regulations contained within that Act, and the Equality Act 2010. Further information regarding the Flexible Working Regulations and how applications for flexible working are to be made and considered is contained within the Flexible Working Guidance.

2.0 POLICY STATEMENT

- 2.1 In accordance with the aims and values of the Trust, this policy seeks to ensure that any requests for flexible working take into account the wellbeing of our current employees, the patients for whom the Trust provides services, and are consistent with current legislation. The Trust recognises that in addition to traditional full-time working patterns, flexible working arrangements can provide a range of options to meet service needs, and which help staff to balance their personal and work commitments.
- 2.2 This policy is intended to help employees, managers and HR deal with written requests made by employees to change their working hours/patterns under the statutory right in the Employment Rights Act 1996 to request flexible working.
- 2.3 A full equality impact assessment has been undertaken for this policy and procedure.

6.0 DOCUMENT REQUIREMENTS

6.1 Making a Request for Flexible Working

- 6.1.1 Every member of staff has the statutory right to request to work flexibly after 1 day of employment with the Trust. An employee can make more than one flexible working request in a 12-month period.
- 6.1.2 A request from an employee under the Employment Rights Act 1996 and Regulations must be made in writing and must include the following information
 - The date of the application, the change to working conditions the member of staff is seeking and when they would like the change to come into effect.
 - What effect, if any, the employee feels the requested change would have on the employer and how, in their opinion, any such effect might be dealt with.
 - A statement if this is a statutory request and if and when they have made a previous application for flexible working.

6.2 Considering the request for Flexible Working

- 6.2.1 The line manager must consider the written request for flexible working.
- 6.2.2 The line manager must arrange a meeting with the member of staff within 28 days of receipt of the flexible working application. If the flexible working request is to be approved a meeting is not required. The employee must have 7 days' notice of the meeting.
- 6.2.3 At the meeting the employee will have the right to be accompanied by an accredited representative of a recognised Trade Union or a work colleague acting in a non-professional capacity.
- 6.2.4 At the meeting discussion should take place regarding the request allowing the line manager to gain a better understanding of the changes the employee is requesting and explore how the changes will affect service delivery.
- 6.2.5 The line manager should consider the request carefully looking at the benefits of the requested changes in working conditions for the employee and the business and evaluate these against any adverse business impact of implementing the changes.
- 6.2.6 The line manager must make a decision within 14 days of the meeting and inform the employee of this decision in writing. This time limit can be longer if both parties agree. If a flexible working pattern has been agreed this will be a permanent change unless this is explicitly identified as an outcome of the request. The line manager will generate a variation to contract form which will be signed by the manager and staff member.
- 6.2.7 The application will be treated as withdrawn if the employee misses 2 meetings (without good reason) with the line manager.
- 6.2.8 If the line manager rejects the request it must be for one of the following business reasons as set out in legislation;
- The burden of additional cost
 - An inability to reorganise work amongst existing staff
 - An inability to recruit additional staff
 - A detrimental impact on quality
 - A detrimental impact on performance
 - Detrimental effect on ability to meet customer demand
 - Insufficient work for the periods the employee proposes to work
 - A planned structural change in your business
- 6.2.9 The line managers letter must include;
- The business reasons for rejecting the application
 - An explanation about how the requested flexible working affects the business
 - How employees can appeal.

6.3 Appeal the Decision

- 6.3.1 Employees can appeal against the decision to decline the flexible working request if the information the employer used to make the decision was incorrect or incomplete.
- 6.3.2 An employee cannot appeal if they just disagree with the business reasons for the rejection.
- 6.3.2 If an employee wishes to appeal, they must write to the higher line manager setting out the grounds for an appeal, within 14 days after receiving written notice of the decision.
- 6.3.3 The higher line manager will hear the appeal with a Human Resource Business Partner.
- 6.3.3 The higher line manager must hold a meeting with the employee within 14 days after the employee has lodged an appeal.
- 6.3.4 At the meeting the employee will have the right to be accompanied by an accredited representative of a recognised Trade Union or a work colleague acting in a non-professional capacity.
- 6.3.5 The higher line manager will write to the employee outlining the decision within 14 days of the meeting.
